WHY SHOULD I USE THEM?

CALI Lessons provide immediate feedback to students so that they can gauge their progress and understanding of a subject. CALI Lessons include questions throughout the tutorials. Immediate assessment such as this has been shown to be highly effective in knowledge retention. In addition to student self-assessment, faculty using our LessonLink tool can view student responses and use the lessons as a formative assessment tool. The underlying software, CALI Author™, is available and free for faculty to use to edit existing CALI Lessons or create their own. And they are absolute free for students to use.

HOW CAN I USE THEM?

- ◆ Suggest them to students as a free study aid
- ◆ Before class for Flipped Classroom preparation
- ◆ During class as interactive teaching tool
- ◆ After class as formative assessment tool

LESSONLINK

LessonLink is a CALI tool that allows faculty members to view student scores, completion rates and usage of CALI lessons. Faculty can create a LessonLink with the push of a button - the system then creates a unique web address (or URL) for existing CALI lessons and groups the LessonLinks onto a single webpage by the course that you created them for. Each course can have an unlimited number of LessonLinks in an unlimited number of CALI topics

CALI AUTHOR™ AND AUTOPUBLISH

AutoPublish is a feature of CALI Author that allows faculty to have more control over the content offered to their students. All of the existing CALI Lessons can be downloaded, edited and AutoPublished to the CALI website. This doesn't replace the existing lesson but rather places the edited lesson at a new URL that can only be accessed by direct invitation. Faculty also have the option to create a lesson from scratch using CALI Author™ software and AutoPublish. All AutoPublished Lessons have the same tracking features of LessonLink.
